O'Dea's double helps Mayo stay alive, 8-4

Mayo's Mark Foster accepts high fives from teammates after he adds home run in the 11th inning of yesterday's 8-4 victory.

By BROOKS HATCH
For The Capital
CORVALLIS, Ore. — Thursday's losing pitcher checked his disappointment at the gate when he left Taylor Field that night and came back ready to play yesterday.

Mayo's Brett O'Dea was knocked around in a 9-3 loss to Bayamon, P.R. the day before. But he rebounded with four hits and three RBIs to spark the Wildcats' 8-4 victory over Midland, Mich., yesterday at the American Legion World Series.

The 19-year-old left fielder had a triple, a double, two singles, three RBIs and an outstanding catch in left field. He raised his tournament average to .333 (14-42) with four RBIs and three steals.

By eliminating Midland (88-9), the Wildcats (88-7) assured themselves of no worse than fourth place, the best finish by a Maryland team since Cheverly placed third in 1975.

Mayo plays Texarkana, Ark. tonight at either 5:05 or 10:35 p.m. EST.

The only mistake O'Dea made yesterday was getting thrown out trying to extend a double into a triple in Mayo's three-run third inning.

"It felt good (to win)," O'Dea said. "Yesterday I didn't have a good day. We finally started hitting. We were flat" against Bayamon.

Mayo also turned a big double play to end a Midland threat in the seventh and Chris Brewer saved wear and tear on the pitching staff by going the distance.

"Chris turned in a fine performance," Mayo coach Will Trinidad said. "It helped us a lot because it kept our two other pitchers fresh for the remainder of the tournament."

For the third straight tourney game the Wildcats broke on top with a three-run third inning.

O'Dea's double drove in Eric Scott, but he was thrown out trying for third. Brewer followed with a single and held at third when Mark Foster doubled.

Midland should have been out of the inning with no further damage but third baseman Frank Accetta threw high on Jerry Nicklon's grounder. The ball still beat Nicklon to the base, but he ducked under Ted Wroblewski's sweep tag and Brewer scored.

Foster made it 3-0 on the tail end of a double steal two pitches later.

O'Dea's two-run triple made it 5-1 in the fourth. Foster's solo homer and a two-run single by Chuck Mankin put Midland safely ahead 8-1 in the fifth.

O'Dea also had the defensive play of the afternoon, an over-the-shoulder grab at the warning track of Coby Garner's drive in the fourth inning.

Brewer pitched five-hit ball through seven innings before tiring in the eighth. He surrendered opposite field RBI doubles to Steve Money and Accetta to make it 8-4. Garner then launched another shot to left, but O'Dea caught it at the base of the fence and Brewer held on. (See MAYO, Page B5)

Orioles down Indians in 11

BALTIMORE — When Gregg Olson came in last night to pitch the ninth inning for the Orioles, it was to save a win for Curt Schilling. He was not successful.

Instead, Olson gave up a game-tying home run to Cleveland pinch-hitter Carlos Baerga.

runner after Bill Ripken walked to open the 11th inning, to slide underneath the attempted tag.

The run batted in was Ripken's third of the evening and gave Joe Price his second win in four decisions.

Colby Ward dropped to 1-2 with the loss.

The Orioles had taken their 4-3 lead with the help of some wildness by Cleveland relief pitchers Efrain Valdez, who walked two, and Steve Olin, who forced in the go-ahead run by walking Orsulak with two out in the sixth inning.

The Orioles maintained that lead until Olson gave it up to the first batter he faced. It was the second home run he has allowed in as many outings and only the second home run he had ever surrendered at Memorial Stadium.

"Olson threw me a fastball down the middle on a 3-2 count and that's what I was looking for," Baerga said.

Manager Frank Robinson shrugged off the homer, saying, "Gregg's giving me the best effort he can give me. I can't ask for any more than that. Things like that will happen sometimes. It just so happens he's done it twice in the last two games we've played here."

Baerga's home run increased the importance of a controversial call that saw Baltimore's Mike Devereaux called out at the plate in the fourth inning.

The Orioles opened the scoring in the third inning when Bill Ripken led off with a double off Cleveland starter Mike Walker. Brady Anderson

Race Expo is runners chance for a head start

By JOE GROSS

Everything is in readiness for tomorrow's 7:45 a.m. start of the 15th Annapolis 10-Mile Run.

Approximately 3,500 runners will participate in the event that has become known as Maryland's premiere 10-mile road race and is the fifth largest 10-mile event in the country.

While the running doesn't start until tomorrow, the pre-race events begin this afternoon with the number pick-up, apparel sales, running displays and slide shows on running. Those preliminaries begin at 3 p.m. today at the Clipper Club at the North Severn Naval Station, headquarters for the event.

"As an incentive to get as many runners as possible to pick up their numbers (today) we're having what we're calling a Race Expo," race director Evan Thomas said. "Some of the prizes will be stress tests valued at $100. They'll be given by the Annapolis Pulmonary Specialists."

"We'll also have some fun runs on the Naval Academy golf course and there will be some running coaches giving demonstrations and tips to the runners," Thomas added. "There will also be computerized coaching from Compu-Coach."

The Expo will include clothing sales by several vendors as well as

The spaghetti dinner has become a traditional part of the event to help the runners load up on carbohydrates that will help to get them through the race. The spaghetti buffet is open only to those who have already purchased tickets.

"We're keeping our fingers crossed about the weather," Thomas said. "Even with the cooler weather we've been having, on race morning it almost always happens that it's suddenly summer again."

Improved rushing attack is what Gibbs seeks

CLEVELAND (AP) — Former Cleveland running back Earnest Byner, now a starter for the Redskins, returns to his old setting, tonight in an exhibition game against the Browns, but said he's treating the exhibition like any other game.

"It doesn't matter that I'm playing against the Browns," he said. "I just want to play a good game."

"I expect a few bones to be thrown at me," he said, referring to the Cleveland stadium's "Dawg Pound" section, where fans hurl dog biscuits.

Byner has gained 27 yards of five carries.

Washington coach Joe Gibbs said he's concerned about his rushing attack. The Redskins have rushed for 117 yards on 47 carries, an average of 2.5 yards a carry.

"We're not rushing the ball like we'd like to," Gibbs said. "We'd like to be able to run it with some consistency. We're still turning the ball over and that's something a good football team cannot afford to do."

College grid season opens to high stakes

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Colorado and Tennessee get a head start on the rest of the national championship contenders when they open the college football season tomorrow in the inaugural Disneyland Pigskin Classic.

"This game has big stakes," Colorado coach Bill McCartney said. "The winner will be in great shape nationally. The loser will have to pick up the pieces."

Kickoff in the newest NCAA-sanctioned preseason game is at noon PDT at Anaheim Stadium. Colorado came a lot closer to winning the national championship last year than Tennessee did, but they both had superb 11-1 seasons.

The undefeated Big Eight champion Buffaloes were ranked No. 1 heading into the Orange Bowl, but lost 21-6 to Notre Dame. Tennessee's only loss was to Alabama in the sixth week.

GOLF: AKRON, Ohio — Jose Maria Olazabal continued his record-breaking assault on one of America's most difficult courses and threatened to run away from the winners-only field in the World Series of Golf.

The 24-year-old Spaniard added a 3-under-par 67 to his opening 61 and reached the tournament halfway point yesterday with a 128 total and an incredible 9-stroke lead.

KENMORE, Wash. — Bob Brue, a non-winner in his five years on the Senior PGA Tour, had seven birdies and shot a 6-under-par 66 yesterday for a 1-stroke lead in the $350,000 GTE Northwest Classic.

Don Bies of Seattle shot a 67 on the 6,501-yard, par-72 Inglewood Country Club course tied at 68 were Tom Shaw, Chi Chi Rodriguez and Harold Henning, while George Archer and Walt Zembriski were at 69.

BROOKLYN PARK, Minn. — Barb Bunkowsky, whose only LPGA victory came six years ago, matched her career low round with a 7-under-par 65 yesterday to lead by one stroke after the first round of the Northgate LPGA Classic.

Beth Daniel, winner of two of her last three tournaments and winner of the last two LPGA events played in Minnesota, shot 66. She was joined in second place by Cindy Rarick and Chris Johnson.

DENVER — Two-time NCAA champion Phil Mickelson advanced yesterday to the quarterfinals of the U.S. Amateur golf championship, finally overtaking Mike Swingle.

TENNIS: NEW YORK — Andrei Chesnokov defeated Christo van Rensburg 6-2, 4-6, 6-2 yesterday to move into the quarterfinals of the WCT Tournament of Champions at the West Side Tennis Club, a warmup event for next week's U.S. Open.

In the other quarterfinal matches completed yesterday, Spain's Emilio Sanchez crushed Patrick McEnroe 6-3, 6-1 and Aaron Krickstein outlasted Czechoslovakia's Petr Korda 4-6, 6-3, 6-1.

Robinson ponders changes

By JOE GROSS
Sports Editor

BALTIMORE — With time and hope running out, Orioles manager Frank Robinson is setting the plans for the remainder of the season.

The manager won't look too far ahead, but he is working on his strategy just in case his club can come back from the 7½-game deficit it took into last night's game.

As he did late last season, Robinson said he will go with a four-man pitching rotation that allowed only three days rest between starts. But when questioned about details of that rotation, Robinson hedged and ducked and almost changed his mind.

No, Anthony Telford, who started last night, and Ben McDonald would not pitch with only three days rest.

"Telford will not pitch next Tuesday night," Robinson said. "I'm not sure what I'll do. Maybe we'll go to a fifth guy. We can call someone up from Rochester to pitch that game and then send him back down the next day."

Robinson said his decision comes from a "gut feeling" that tells him not to start young, inexperienced pitchers with only three days rest.

The manager is not willing to endanger the arms of either McDonald, who was rocked in his last start at Boston, or Telford, who had only his second major league outing last night.

"If (Bob) Milacki is back, that would help me determine what I'd do with the rest of the pitchers, but that's a big if," Robinson said. "I don't know if Milacki is ready to come back yet. We'll have to look at him pretty closely."

While Robinson hesitated talking about Milacki's return, pitching coach Al Jackson said he believes Milacki is ready to come off the disabled list.

"Milacki probably threw a total of 175 pitches today," Jackson said, referring to warmups and actual hard throwing off the bullpen mound.

"If Milacki can come back we'd have to make a move and I'm not sure what that would be," Robinson noted.

If Milacki does not come back within the next week or so, Robinson feels his spot starter would be either Jeff Ballard or J.J. Bautista out of the bullpen.

"I know for sure it wouldn't be Curt Schilling," Robinson said. "With Mark Williamson on the DL, we have to keep Schilling in the position he's in. He has to be the set-up man."

"If Williamson was healthy, I'd probably try Schilling as a starter, but we can't do that now," Robinson said.

son then beat out what was intended to be a sacrifice bunt. A strikeout later Cal Ripken sliced a double to right to score both runners.

In the fourth, Mickey Tettleton and Devereaux got successive walks and after being sacrificed up a base, Bill Ripken singled to center. Tettleton scored easily but Devereaux was out on the close play at the plate.

Sandy Alomar did a great job of blocking Devereaux off the plate and the latter's hand came up in front of the catcher and inadvertently hit the mitt a split second after the ball thrown by center fielder Alex Cole was caught.

Umpire John Shulock never hesi-tated in making the call.

The Orioles still got the opportunity to score more in the sixth, but Cal Ripken popped out with the bases loaded. This season he has only four hits in 22 at bats with the bases loaded.

In the top of the fifth, rookie Anthony Telford gave up his first run as a big leaguer. It was also the first two-hit inning of his career.

"That catch was a big play because they could have busted open that inning," Brewer said.

Midland had one on in the ninth but the potential tying run never came to the plate.

"I had nothing today," Brewer said. "But that shows how good a team we have. When I didn't play well we still won."

"We didn't play well against Bayamon, but after you play well for so long you're bound to have a game where everyone is flat," he added.

There will be four water stations along the course to help runners maintain their hydration. The medical personnel prompt the runners to drink.

There will be course monitors along the route to keep close watch on the runners.

The finish of the run will be on the grass in front of Navy-Marine Corps Memorial Stadium. There will be a variety of refreshments and drinks for the runners, who are expected to continue finishing until nearly 10 a.m. when the awards ceremony is scheduled to begin.

Area residents should note that the old Severn River Bridge will be closed to both boat and car traffic from 8 until 10 a.m. Several roads will also be closed to automobile traffic during the race. In order, from the start of the run, they include Taylor Avenue, Cedar Park Road, Farragut Road, one lane of inbound Rowe Boulevard, College Avenue, Main Street, Randall Street, the perimeter road within the Naval Academy grounds, Old Annapolis Boulevard, on both sides of the Severn River and Severn Ridge Road.

People trying to leave Annapolis between those hours should either go through Eastport and out Forest Drive or go out of town on West Street.

Residents of the Naval Station can get out of their area by taking Route 648 and turning right onto St. Margarets Road.
